High School Juniors and Seniors: Bioforce applications are open!

NEW YORK
b i o f o r c e

NY Bioforce is designed for current 11th and 12th graders from low-income families who are interested in life sciences research. It combines an intensive lab training program on Saturdays in the spring with opportunities for students to connect with paid 6-week summer internships in cutting-edge academic and industry research labs, including at Columbia University and Weill Cornell Medicine. This program aims to prepare students for higher education in STEM fields and ultimately to join the workforce as the next generation of scientists conducting essential life sciences research.

Applications for the Spring/Summer of 2023 will remain open until February 28th, 2023. It is in the students' best interest to submit their applications as early as possible, as we will be reviewing them on a rolling basis.
